DrumCircle!

The first instrument was the drum, and all cultures of the world express themselves through rhythm. It's part of who we are as human beings, and a great way to feel alive. By drumming together, we listen, feel and work together to create music. With over fifteen years experience, Joselyn Wilkinson (founder of ADAWE) will lead your DrumCircle with basic drumming technique, African rhythms and improvisational creativity. In a fun, supportive environment, we will learn and play together!

RhythmSong!

Everyone has a voice, and everyone has the power to improvise and create with words and melody. You will be guided in a supportive environment as you create with other participants on a team. Through guided imagery, free form writing, rhythm work and creative sharing, you'll be amazed at the original music you'll create together, and at the power of your own voice!
